My name is Drew Hickmott, and I am a Sophomore at Wayne State studying Global Supply Chain Management. Previously I attended the University of Michigan and transferred here in the fall. On top of being a student here I am a member and captain of the Wayne State Football Team. I am super eager to expand my involvement on campus outside of athletics. This is the reason why I decided to rush AKPSI. I wanted to meet new students and make meaningful connections. Being in AKPSI, I would be surrounded by smart, dedicated, and outgoing people with similar interests and goals as me.

My experience of being a member and captain on the Wayne State Football Team has equipped me with the necessary tools to excel in AKPSI. My ability to balance a full academic schedule along with a rigorous athletic schedule taught me to learn valuable lessons in time management, accountability, and the power of a strong work ethic. Leading and working with over 120 teammates from all different types of diverse backgrounds, races and ethnicities improved my communication skills, and reinforced the importance of brotherhood and teamwork. These experiences have set me on a path to serve, and not only better myself but those around me. I display AKPSI core values of Brotherhood, Knowledge, Integrity, Service, and Unity everyday in my athletic, academic, and daily life. I am ready, and excited to actively participate in chapter events, contribute to committees, and uphold the values that define AKPSI.

The brotherhood of AKPSI represents an excellence that I strive to meet and exceed. I'm very excited about the opportunity to grow as a professional leader and absorb from those around me while also positively impacting others. I will bring a great attitude, commitment, and a team-first mindset to this chapter, and would be thrilled to interview for a chance to become a brother of AKPSI.

Sincerely,

Drew Hickmott
