

Alyssa McCreary

amcry095@gmail.com

May, 2029

248.795.8733

Dear Alpha Kappa Psi,

My name is Alyssa McCreary and I am a current freshman at Wayne State University, studying Communication Sciences and Disorders. I've always been an introverted person, but recently, I've been trying to get out of my shell by trying new things such as joining clubs and organizations and communicating with classmates and peers to the greatest extent I can. As an introverted and generally awkward person, it can feel like you are always on the outside looking in. I am someone who tries to make my peers feel as comfortable as possible in social situations, and tries to bring people closer together. My peers inspire me to be a better person every day, through observation, experience, and collaboration.

As a freshman, I am continuing to build my leadership experience, but one role I have already taken on closely aligns with Alpha Kappa Psi's values of unity and service. Working as a server at a banquet center since September 2023 has required me to collaborate in fast-paced environments while serving events ranging from 50 to over 400 guests. I have trained multiple coworkers, which strengthened my communication, organization, and leadership skills, as well as my ability to support others and maintain team morale. This job is not always easy. I serve for many different events. Sometimes the worst day of someone's life, like a funeral, or the best day of someone's life, their wedding. My goal always, even on my own personal bad days, is to give other people a positive experience, give support, and to focus on their needs. I believe kind acts and expressing positivity are extremely important, not just in a work setting but in many aspects of life. My experience reflects Alpha Kappa Psi's emphasis on service and unity, as I learned that strong relationships, personability, and reliability are essential to a successful team, and also happy people. I am confident that this experience and skills I have learned will allow me to flourish within Alpha Kappa Psi as a highly active, committed member.

I am a highly goal-driven and organized person, however, I recognize that I still have room to improve my social, interpersonal, academic, and professional skills. Every interaction I've had with the brothers has been welcoming, supportive, and motivating and I truly believe Alpha Kappa Psi would play a meaningful role in that growth throughout my college experience. I would be very grateful for the opportunity to be interviewed and to further demonstrate my commitment to positively contributing to Alpha Kappa Psi. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Alyssa McCreary

ALPHA KAPPA PSI
The Professional Business Fraternity